GENERAL NEWS.

President Garfield's Programme for the Coming Summer.

THE NEW YORK LEGISLATURE PROPOSES AN IMMIGRATION TAX.

A Savage Murderer who Feeds at Uncle Sam's Expense—A Heavy Judgment in favor of the Pacific Mail, etc., etc.

WACO, TEX., May 31.—A [illegible] of hail-stones visited south McLennan and [illegible] part of Bell county Saturday night. A number of farm houses were torn down, one lady [illegible] and two men badly hurt. Near Crawford several houses were unroofed.

DALLAS, May 31.—A [illegible] wind storm swept over the city last night. Rainfall in torrents, flooding all streams. [illegible] is rising rapidly, and is expected to overflow its banks.

Specials report [illegible] rain and hail storms in various portions of the state, in many instances destroying fruit and [illegible] injuring corn, cotton and wheat crops.

TAYLOR, Texas, May 31.—A hurricane visited Taylor Saturday evening and lasted forty minutes. No lives were lost. Mr. P. N. [illegible] house was blown down and two families seriously injured. The Christian church and Odd Fellows' hall were totally wrecked. Nearly all barns and outhouses were demolished. Scarcely a house in town escaped damage. Fences were blown down, and trees uprooted for miles around.

Another Fool.

CHICAGO, May 30.—John Griscom after 72 hours of fasting, shows a loss of 11 pounds. He appears to be in a healthy condition, plays games, visits the streets, and when he feels the need of stimulation takes a leisure walk.

Mr. Peck Sustained.

BUFFALO, May 31.—The Presbyterian general assembly, after considerable debate, adopted the report of the judicial committee in the case of [illegible] Peck of Oregon, who appealed from the synod of Columbia's action, in dropping an investigation of charges of immorality against him. The committee [illegible] the record [illegible] of the synod's clearance of what was done, and they therefore sustained the action of Peck.

Again Indicted.

NEW YORK, May 31.—The grand jury to-day [illegible] a new indictment against Wm. Muir, of 32 West Eleventh street, charging him with forging thousands of bonds of the Oregon and California railroad. Muir was formerly indicted in 1877.

New Produce Exchange Building.

NEW YORK, May 31.—The Produce Exchange has an annual meeting to-day. The surplus fund amounts to $215,000. The site for the new building cost $[illegible],000, and the building to be erected thereon will cost $1,[illegible]. Proposals are out for $500,000 worth of building bonds, to bear interest at 4½ per cent.

Immigration.

Immigration this month exceeds the figures of the same month last year by 21,000, and the number is larger than for any one month in the history of Castle Garden. Arrivals each month since January, are as follows: January, 5062; February, 9738; March, 27,188; April, 59,848; May, 76,812. Total for five months, 142,108. For the corresponding period last year, the figures were: January, 7677; February, 7804; March, 21,054; April, 46,672; May, [illegible]. Total for five months, 135,[illegible].

A Rumor.

CHICAGO, May 31.—The Times mentions an absurd rumor which is exploded to-day, that Gould and Hopkins of the Wabash, would be here at the meetings of the Rock Island and Northwestern railroads to-morrow and Thursday; it is presumed to capture them. The fact appears to be that Gould now owns less stock in the road than formerly.

Death of Gov. Anderson.

PORTLAND, Me., May 31.—Hugh J. Anderson, ex-governor and ex-congressman, died to-day, aged [illegible].

Defaulter on Trial.

BOSTON, May 31.—Attorneys for Joseph Bork, the defaulting city treasurer, made an ineffectual effort to-day to have the indictment quashed. Bork is charged with embezzling 30 bonds valued at $[illegible].

The Iowa Greenbackers.

MARSHALLTOWN, Iowa, May 31.—Several hundred delegates have arrived for the greenback state convention, including De LaMatyr, Jess Harper and Gillette. Gen. Weaver will be here to-morrow.

Army of the Cumberland Meeting.

CHATTANOOGA, May 31.—[illegible] are arranging for the meeting of the army of the Cumberland, Sept. 21. President Garfield, secretary Lincoln and other cabinet officers will be here. Ex-president Grant probably, and many other prominent men will attend.

Deliberate Murder at Denver.

DENVER, May 31.—At 6:30 this evening, E. [illegible], a mining man, entered a boarding house at the corner of Seventeenth and Stout, where the boarders were seated at the table, pulled a revolver and opened fire on M. T. Catapon, a real estate agent. Two shots struck Catapon, causing instant death, and another pierced Mrs. Deveraux through the heart. It is said that Catapon has for some time had improper relations with Mrs. Stickney, but was drawn on by her for blackmailing purposes, and that two months ago he was compelled at the point of the dagger by Stickney to sign notes amounting to $[illegible], that he paid several, then refused and could not be compelled to pay the remainder because no consideration was stated in the notes. Since then Stickney several times threatened Catapon's life. The shooting of Mrs. Deveraux was accidental. The murderer is in jail.

St. Louis don't want an Elevated Road.

ST. LOUIS, May 31.—A strong protest is out against the projected elevated road, which will go through the finest portion of the city.

Steamship Lines to be Taxed for Emigrants.

NEW YORK, May 31.—The commissioners of emigration are informed that a bill providing for a tax of one dollar for each steerage passenger landed at this port by steamships from foreign countries had passed the legislature and was before the governor for his signature—which he has promised to give promptly. The tax is to be paid by steamship companies, and provides that in case of default vessels may be libeled. The purpose of the tax is to provide for inspection and other expense attendant upon immigration. It does not affect passengers now on the way to the United States and will obviate the necessity of asking the state for an annual appropriation to support immigration.

A Red Handed Murderer.

CHICAGO, May 31.—It appears from recent correspondence at the department of the interior that last summer Low Dog, a Sioux Indian, meeting a mail carrier near Tongue river, Montana, murdered him and robbed his person and mail. Low Dog was subsequently found in possession of a package of letters and property of the carrier, and confessed the crime, but evaded arrest and joined Sitting Bull across the line. Last month he came with a small party of Sioux and surrendered to the military at Fort Buford. The civil authorities thereupon manifested a purpose to bring him to trial for murder, but the officer commanding at Fort Buford, protested, saying such a proceeding would prevent the surrender of Sitting Bull, which was certain otherwise to take place in a few days. The departments of war, interior and justice are entirely united in ordering the marshal not to make the arrest. The postoffice department, whose [illegible] was murdered does not seem to participate. At all events Low Dog is comfortably consuming government rations and Sitting Bull is still at large.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Movements of Troops in the Southwest.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Under orders from the war department Gen. Pope is stationing troops at accessible points for service in case they should be required with the Ute Indians, when their removal under the Ute treaty is to be consummated. Care is taken that no movement of troops likely to excite Indians is made.

Large Judgment Reversed.

WASHINGTON, May 30.—In the court of claims to-day in the case of Bodlee, [illegible] & Co. vs. the United States, in which the plaintiffs had previously secured judgment for $300,000 against the government for cotton captured during the war, the court set aside the judgment on account of fraud.

The Pacific Mail Gets a Heavy Judgment.

The case of the Pacific Mail Steamship Co. vs. the U. S., in which the court had given judgment for the company for $40,[illegible], both parties appealing, and supreme court having sent back the case with a mandate, the court of claims to-day gave judgment for $251,117 formerly due on account of carrying mails.

Mrs. Garfield Rapidly Convalescing.

Mrs. Garfield has been entirely free from fever since Saturday, and is rapidly convalescing. The president will soon remove his family to the Soldiers' home for the summer. At a cabinet meeting to-day he announced the intention of attending the graduating exercises of the naval academy, June 10th and the commencement exercises of Williams college, July 4, 5 and 6.

No Circulation of Standard Dollars.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—The circulation of standard silver dollars is practically stopped. During the fall and early winter there was quite a demand for the purpose of moving crops. That demand stopped when the crop movement was over. Since the 1st of January there has been no call for silver. All dollars coined since, remain in the treasury. Moreover, [illegible] in circulation has found its way back to the vaults, and the amount outstanding has steadily decreased. Coinage at the rate of a little over $2,000,000 a month goes steadily on.

National Amateur Regatta.

The executive committee of the national association of amateur oarsmen have fixed upon September [illegible], over the Potomac river course, for the [illegible].

An Important Technicality.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—[illegible] by the French and American claims commission in the case of [illegible] against the United States. The memorial of the claimant sets forth that in 1862, at which time he was a French subject residing in New Orleans, military forces of the United States under command of Gen. B. F. Butler, occupied that city and demanded property belonging to him to the value of $2,000 and subjected him to arrest and imprisonment. For these injuries he claims that he is entitled to damages in the sum of $10,000 with interest. The United States maintains that the archbishop is not entitled to recover at all as a French subject under the treaty, for the reason that he is now and has been since 1870 a naturalized American citizen.

Following is the decision of the commissioners: Archbishop Perch, in his memorial, states that he was naturalized in the United States in 1870. He does not claim to be a French citizen. Without deciding upon any other cases which may be analogous to this, we think that the claim of Monseigneur [illegible] of French citizens. While making this decision, we deem it proper for us to express our regret that we cannot take jurisdiction of a case which comes upon its face to be so equitable. Signed, Baron De Arnoux, president, [illegible] American commissioner. The present case is held to be decisive of a whole class of similar cases in which large amounts of money are involved.

Illustrated by a Story.

[Washington Correspondent N. Y. Tribune.]

The attitude of ex-senators Conkling and Platt reminds a republican senator of a little story.

Barclay was journal clerk of the house of representatives and "Doc" McNabey was [illegible] clerk. When the democrats obtained a majority in the house, Barclay said to McNabey, "[illegible] they will turn out all these clerks at [illegible] [illegible] but they won't touch us, they [illegible] without us."

[illegible] Barclay and McNabey [illegible], [illegible] the day [illegible] their official heads fell [illegible]. [illegible] They took several drinks, and then [illegible] "Can't do it. [illegible] in a week. Begging us on bended knees to come back [illegible]."

McNabey felt encouraged and looked up. "Point me up to the Goddess of Liberty to exclaim, 'Oh, see that? She totters! She totters!'"

It illustrates, said the Senator, the exaggerated opinion men in public life are apt to get of their own importance.

Senator Platt must feel flattered by the unanimity with which the newspaper press leaves him out of [illegible] in the footsteps of [illegible].

THE NEW TESTAMENT.

Parallel Passages Quoted for Comparison.

GIVING EXAMPLES OF CHANGES IN THE NEW VERSION.

Reasons for the Changes—The Authorities Consulted and the Plan Pursued.

[illegible]

Some of the Sources.

[illegible]

Changes from Amended Text.

[illegible]

The Lord's Prayer.

Changes by Improved Translation.

Dr. Roberts here gives us an interesting account of the changes made in the authorized version [illegible] [illegible]. The changes are [illegible] [illegible] "Matthew xxvi, 56; Mark iv, 12" [illegible] of the Greek original. [illegible] "Christian," Acts xxvi, 28, is changed into "With but little persuasion thou wouldst fain make me a Christian," [illegible] of Revelation are changed [illegible] more appropriate designation of "living creatures."

Changes by Amended Greek Grammar.

Another series of changes has resulted from the correction of mistakes in Greek grammar. These changes too, are very numerous, and defy analysis by reason of their [illegible] and delicacy. [illegible] of the revised translation. Attention is paid to the distinction between the Greek aorist and the Greek perfect in the tenses of the verb. The Greek imperfect has received its special [illegible] meaning, [illegible] of the Greek prepositions are carefully discriminated according to their various [illegible].

Archaisms and Ambiguities.

Next follows in Dr. Roberts' [illegible] [illegible] corrections made by the revisers in the matter of archaisms, ambiguities and the rendering of [illegible] terms [illegible] [illegible] the original verbs require each a distinction. The word translated "miracle" is changed to "sign" [illegible] works where a different Greek word stands for each. Yet [illegible] much remains to be considered in a perfect translation of the nice Greek discriminations in the New Testament.

Some Parallel Passages.

As an illustration of the manner in which the work of the revision has been done we print in parallel columns some of the most important [illegible]

[illegible]

ST. JOHN'S GOSPEL—CHAPTER I.

45. Now from the sixth hour there was darkness over all the land unto the ninth hour. | Now from the sixth hour there was darkness over all the land until the ninth hour.

46. And about the ninth hour Jesus cried with a loud voice, saying, Eli, Eli, lama sabachthani? that is to say, My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me? | And about the ninth hour Jesus cried with a loud voice, saying, Eli, Eli, lama sabachthani? that is, My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?

47. Some of them that stood there, when they heard that, said, This man calleth for Elias. | And some of them that stood there, when they heard it, said, This man calleth Elijah.

48. And straightway one of them ran, and took a spunge, and filled it with vinegar, and put it on a reed, and gave him to drink. | And straightway one of them ran, and took a sponge, and filled it with vinegar, and put it on a reed, and gave him to drink.

49. The rest said, Let be, let us see whether Elias will come to save him. | And the rest said, Let be; let us see whether Elijah cometh to save him.

50. Jesus, when he had cried again with a loud voice, yielded up the ghost. | And Jesus cried again with a loud voice, and yielded up his spirit.

ALL THE NATIONS—MATTHEW XXVIII.

19. Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost; | Go ye therefore, and make disciples of all the nations, baptizing them into the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost;

THE MESSENGER—MARK I.

2. As it is written in the prophets, Behold, I send my messenger before thy face, which shall prepare thy way before thee. | Even as it is written in Isaiah the prophet, Behold, I send my messenger before thy face, Who shall prepare thy way.

24. And as he thus spake for himself, Festus said with a loud voice, Paul, thou art beside thyself; much learning doth make thee mad. | And as he thus made his defense, Festus saith with a loud voice, Paul, thou art mad; thy much learning doth turn thee to madness.

25. But he said, I am not mad, most noble Festus; but speak forth the words of truth and soberness. | But Paul saith, I am not mad, most excellent Festus; but speak forth words of truth and soberness.

26. For the king knoweth of these things, before whom also I speak freely: for I am persuaded that none of these things are hidden from him; for this thing was not done in a corner. | For the king knoweth of these things, unto whom also I speak freely: for I am persuaded that none of these things is hidden from him; for this hath not been done in a corner.

27. King Agrippa, believest thou the prophets? I know that thou believest. | King Agrippa, believest thou the prophets? I know that thou believest.

28. Then Agrippa said unto Paul, Almost thou persuadest me to be a Christian. | And Agrippa said unto Paul, With but little persuasion thou wouldest fain make me a Christian.

29. And Paul said, I would to God, that not only thou, but also all that hear me this day, were both almost and altogether such as I am, except these bonds. | And Paul said, I would to God, that whether with little or with much, not thou only, but also all that hear me this day, might become such as I am, except these bonds.

Spurts of disgusting mucous from the nostrils or upon the tonsils, Watery Eyes, Snuffles, Buzzing in the Ears, Deafness, Crackling sensations in the Head, Intermittent Pains over the Eyes, Foetid Breath, Nasal Twang, Scabs in the Nostrils, and Tickling in the Throat are SIGNS of CATARRH.

No other such loathsome, treacherous and undermining malady curses mankind. One-fifth of our Children die of diseases generated by its Infectious Poison, and one-fourth of living men and women drag out miserable existences from the same cause. While asleep, the impurities in the nostril are necessarily swallowed into the stomach and inhaled into the lungs to poison every part of the system.

Dr. Wei De Meyer's Catarrh Cure absorbs the purulent virus and kills the seeds of poison in the farthest parts of the system. It will not only relieve, but certainly cure Catarrh at any stage. It is the only remedy which in our judgment, has ever yet really cured a case of Chronic Catarrh.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, JUNE 1, 1881.

A PRECEDENT FOR CONKLING'S SUICIDE.

In its examination of a [illegible] survey of political history, attempted for the purpose of finding a precedent for the suicide of the ex-senator and ex-[illegible] of New York, the Chicago Tribune falls upon a North Carolina case, some forty years old, which offers some singular points of resemblance to the arrogant New Yorker's recent self-extinction. True, the cases are not wholly parallel, as the North Carolina senators resigned for very different reasons from those which have actuated Messrs. Conkling and Platt. But in both cases the senators by their withdrawal left their party in a minority in the senate; in both cases they confidently expected immediate re-election, and in both they were signally disappointed. The North Carolina case was substantially this:

In 1840 that state was represented in the United States senate by two democrats, both men of ability. One was Bedford Brown, who was originally elected in 1829 and was serving the last year of his second term. The other was Robert Strange, who was elected in 1837, and whose term would not expire until March 3, 1843. In the winter of 1839-40 the whigs had a majority in both branches of the legislature. But as a party they did not approve of the doctrine of state's instruction of senators. Brown and Strange were both known to be believers in that doctrine. The whigs thereupon framed a series of resolutions in which they expressed the inability of the state of North Carolina to approve or indorse the votes of the two senators from that state, and generally expressed a condemnation of their national policy. These resolutions were adopted in January, 1840, that being the January before the presidential election at which Mr. Van Buren was a candidate for re-election. Had Brown and Strange resigned, the democratic majority in the senate would have been lost by their retirement and the immediate election of two whigs. Messrs. Brown and Strange immediately notified the North Carolina legislature that they believed in the doctrine of instructions, and if the legislature would change their resolutions into instructions the two senators would immediately respond by resigning or by obeying the instructions. The legislature declined to make any such change, and so the matter stood till June 30, when each of the senators addressed a long letter to the legislature, which was to meet on the third Monday in November, 1840, and in which they resigned their seats in the senate, to take effect that day. In their address both senators denied that the resolutions were in the nature of instructions, or that they were intended to be such. Mr. Brown laid it down as the law "that when the legislature by resolutions of instruction, command their will to be done touching public measures, all further responsibility is removed from the senator, and the vote which he gives is the vote of the legislature." While he was not instructed, and therefore not bound to either resign or obey, still from an anxious desire to submit his public course to the decision of the people of the state, he resigned, saying that he would have done so at an earlier date if an election had sooner intervened. Senator Strange laid down substantially the same doctrine on the ground of the duty of senators to obey instructions or resign. Senator Brown left three months of his term unexpired, and senator Strange left two years and three months of his term.

The next thing was an appeal to the people for re-election. The senators were entirely confident that they would be "vindicated;" no doubt entering their minds as to their being sent back covered with glory. But the legislature chosen in the election that ensued was whig in both branches, and Messrs. Brown and Strange had their resignations accepted by popular acclaim. They were succeeded in the senate by Mr. Mangum for the long term and by Mr. Graham for the short, the latter being afterwards the whig candidate for the vice-presidency. Brown and Strange sacrificed themselves to their pride and vanity, as Conkling and Platt have now done, never doubting that the people of their state would rise up and demand their re-election. They were never heard of afterwards in politics. Their performance and its result furnished no bad precedent for the study of those who think that Conkling and Platt have acted wisely—if any such there be.

PRODUCTION—TRANSPORTATION—MARKETS.

"What do we sell? Where do we sell it? How do we transport it? And what do we buy with the proceeds?" These are questions which a writer in the S. F. Merchant illustrates by some interesting figures taken from the American and British official statistics of trade. "The total value of the foreign commerce of the United States, embracing both imports and exports, amounted to $1,613,770,633, and was larger than during any previous year in the history of the country." This is what the chief of the bureau of statistics has to say regarding the foreign commerce of the United States for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1880; and it should be remembered that for the first time since June 30, 1861, the values of all articles of domestic merchandise exported are expressed in specie values.

What, however, constitute the exports of this country? Are they made up of what is made or of what the soil produces? This is the key to the commercial situation. It will unlock the secret of our prosperity and indicate the sources of prospective gain in the future. What was sold abroad during the last fiscal year? Omit all reference to specie movements, which are necessarily controlled by the conditions of trade, we find during the year ended June 30th, 1880, the United States exported $823,946,353 of domestic merchandise. Contrasted with the year 1870, ten years previous, an increase of $447,329,889, or 119 per cent. is exhibited, which is certainly a very satisfactory showing, and may very well excite a good deal of national enthusiasm. It accounts for the "business boom" about which we have lately heard so much. The increase over the next preceding fiscal year 1879 was $125,159,217, or 17.6 per cent.; and let us add here, that the current year promises to show a larger ratio of increase in the volume of domestic exports.

We have thus seen how much we sold, measured by coin; we shall now show of what our exports consist, because they vary little, if at all, year after year, except in quantity and value. The leading heads of exports are:

Bread and breadstuffs	$288,036,835
Raw cotton	211,535,905
Provisions	127,046,942
Mineral oil	36,218,625
Tobacco, leaf and manufactured	18,442,273
Animals, living	15,882,120
Wood and its manufactures	16,987,478
Iron and steel manufactures	14,716,524
Total	$728,[illegible]

Thus it is shown that of the total exports of domestic merchandise eight leading articles contributed eight-ninths of the whole during the year of our greatest prosperity. And it will be seen also that these are commodities which may be classed as natural products, not [illegible] articles [illegible] constituted 83.9 per cent. of the entire value of exports of domestic merchandise from this country during the fiscal year 1880, and these, it will be observed, are agricultural products. [illegible] animals, the value of which being added, increases the per centage in favor of the agricultural interest as against the manufacturing interest.

It is thus clearly shown that the export trade of the United States would be wholly insignificant were it not for its agricultural products; and the volume of these exports, is dependent upon the facilities for transportation, by rail, road and water. And here the writer, who treats the whole subject with marked understanding, proceeds to argue that the master minds of the country who have applied themselves to the task of railroad construction and the organization of traffic are not led away by any will-of-the-wisp delusion that the United States, by cheapening the cost of living in the United Kingdom, thereby helping to reduce wages and the cost of production, is driving the manufactures of England out of the world's market. They know far better than that. They know that the tendency is all the other way while normal conditions of trade exist; but they clearly perceive that the natural products of this country must furnish its great staples of export for centuries to come perhaps and that the genius of American enterprise will do most for the United States by furnishing normal aids to agricultural development. This, in substance and in fact, is what is taking place. It is the cause of the railroad consolidation which is now taking place, and this consolidation is but the economic expression of the peculiar term "railroad monopoly;" and it must continue just as long as the industrial conditions of this vast continental country remain unchanged, and Europe furnishes a market for its surplus products of breadstuffs and provisions. This must be self-evident to those who go to the root of the matter and who do not confound cause with effect. In saying this however, we do not mean to argue that the state, as the conservator of public rights, should not control railroad combinations. That is the question of domestic policy, which is not germane to the subject in hand, however, and which may very well be left to those who are specially interested in its solution. But the point is, that the most practical minds of the country are applying themselves to the problem of how to provide transportation facilities in new districts and to economize those already in existence, without which it would be impossible for the United States to maintain its leading position as an exporting country. Having thus elaborated the questions of production and transportation, the proposition is laid down that we sell by far the most of our surplus products to England and its dependencies. During the last fiscal year the United States exported of its domestic merchandise to the United Kingdom alone, commodities valued at $450,934,244, which constituted about 55 per cent. of our total foreign exports. This is a stupendous fact, and one which should be borne in mind by writers and speakers who denounce England and predict its downfall. If England collapsed as a great power, and ceased to be a great manufacturing country, where would the United States sell its surplus farm products? When any one talks of "Boycotting" British trade, he should put the question: "What if England 'Boycotted' American trade?" If he did, and understood what he was speaking about, he must see that at a game of this kind the United States is not in a position to 'bluff' England.

But recurring to the question of transportation, its cheapening is regarded as one of the most important economic and industrial problems of the day, in which, of course, the element of time is included. Cheap, rapid and safe transportation must be provided or the vast surplus products of this country cannot be moved to the point of export. This is even a more serious question for the people of the Pacific coast, and it will become more so as the country becomes more thickly populated. In time we shall have more railroad connection with the east, but a railroad cannot compete with sea transportation, when it is available. It may, however, somewhat relieve the freight pressure, and enable farmers to get their wheat to market earlier than usual; but their main stay must be the ocean highway, and railroads to deep water for shipment. Owing to the long voyage around the Horn, farmers on this coast do not dispose of their products on such favorable terms as farmers located nearer the Atlantic seaboard; and it is manifest that unless a canal be constructed across the continent at Nicaragua, to greatly shorten the distance by sea to European ports, their relation to the world's market will become yearly more unsatisfactory. Moreover, competition by new producing countries will increase, adding proportionately to existing drawbacks. These are points in the industrial problem which farmers and merchants should alike consider, and they have a very direct bearing also upon the course of our foreign trade.

SHALL AMERICANS OWN SHIPS?

In the North American Review for June Prof. W. G. Sumner discusses from a commercial standpoint and with purely commercial arguments, the question "Shall Americans own ships?" The carrying trade he says differs from shipbuilding just as carting does from wagonmaking. Carrying is the business of men who own ships, and the carrying interest is more or less hostile to that of shipbuilding. Shipowners want to buy new ships at low prices, and they want the number of competing ships kept small, so that freights may be high. He is indifferent where he gets his ships, and cares only that they be cheap and good. In all these points the interest of the shipbuilder is the opposite. There is no sentiment in the matter any more than there is in the purchase of wagons by an express company or carriages by a livery stable keeper. Prof. Sumner asks "Shall Americans own ships?" and answers, "Yes, if they want them. Universally, if an American wants anything, he ought to have it, if he can get it, and if he hurts no one else by getting it. To enter on the question whether he is going to make it or buy it, and whether he is going to buy it of A or of B is an impertinence." We boast a great deal about this being a free country, but Prof. Sumner does not regard it in that light. "It is not a free country, because there are more artificial monopolies in it than in any other country in the world. The popular notion that it is free rises from the fact that there are fewer natural monopolies in it than in any other great civilized country. It is necessary, however, to go to Turkey or Russia to find instances of legislative and administrative abuses to equal the existing laws and regulations of the United States about ships, the carrying trade and foreign commerce. These laws have been brought to public attention again and again, but apparently with little effect in awakening popular attention, while the newspapers carry all over the country details about abuses in Ireland, Russia and South Africa. We should stop bragging about a free country and about the enlightened power of the people in a democratic republic to correct abuses while laws remain which treat the buying, importing, owning and sailing of ships as pernicious, or at least doubtful and suspicious actions. I have no conception of a free man or a free country which can be satisfied if a citizen of that country may not own a ship, if he wants one, getting it in any legitimate manner in which he might acquire other property; or may not sail one, if he find that a profitable industry suited to his taste and ability; or may not exchange the products of his labor with that person, whoever he may be, who offers the most advantageous terms."

Professor Sumner thinks it strange that our people should believe that taxing farmers to force the production of iron, taxing farmers again to force the production of ships out of protected iron, and taxing farmers again to pay subsidies to enable protected ships to do business is a way to make the country rich.

Philadelphia and New York papers say that the new situation of the affairs of the Northern Pacific company, as brought about by the success of Mr. Villard, are favorably regarded by the public, and that it is generally conceded that the prospects of the company have been improved by the change effected in controlling interests. These conclusions are borne out fully by the marked advance in the stocks of the company.

A history of the Congregational association of Oregon and Washington territory, with sketches of the [illegible] Congregational ministers and of the work of the home missionary society of Oregon and the adjoining territories, has been prepared by Rev. M. Eells and published in a thick and handsome pamphlet by George H. Himes. As it begins as far back as 1835 it contains much matter of a historical character which is worthy of [illegible] of permanent value. The general reader will be surprised perhaps to learn how much of the history [illegible] at the beginning [illegible] educational, social and [illegible] progress of [illegible] [illegible] sketches [illegible] of Oregon and Washington [illegible] from the earliest settlement [illegible] full part were other [illegible].

Though perhaps its work has been [illegible] less [illegible] than that of [illegible] of the others, Mr. Eells [illegible] those [illegible] half [illegible].

The specimens of the revised New Testament which we give to-day with parallel extracts from the authorized version, are of sufficient extent to afford a view of the manner in which the new version has been executed, as well as the extent of the alterations. Certain doctrines or dogmas, which depend to no small extent on a word or phrase of the version which [illegible], are likely to be rudely shaken by the changes now made. We have given only such passages as present examples of the principal alterations. There are minor changes innumerable, which affect the sense but little and which will scarcely be noticed by the general reader.

It appears from a dispatch to the St. Paul Pioneer Press, which we give in full in another place, that certain old associates of Mr. Billings in the Northern Pacific consider themselves badly treated by what they call his 'surrender' to Mr. Villard. We give the dispatch as one of the rumors current about the great transaction in which the people of the Pacific northwest have from the first taken so deep an interest. Some of its statements we should be inclined to take with much allowance, but the dispatch will be of interest from the fact that it contains points not hitherto published here.

Thomas A. Scott was only fifty-seven years of age. He began in a very subordinate position in the Pennsylvania railroad company in 1850 and by his energy and talents advanced by successive steps, till he reached the presidency of the company. The instances are comparatively few in which men actually work themselves to death, as indolence is the general rule, but Thomas A. Scott exhausted himself by his prodigious labors, and died twenty years before his time.

The Daily Oregonian.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, JUNE 1, 1881.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.

SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.

WASHINGTON, June 1. For Pacific coast, fair weather in California, light rains in Oregon and Washington territory.

CITY.

ARRIVALS OF THE PLACE. Yesterday the renowned running horse Winters, owned by Elisha Barnes of Prineville, reached his quarters at the state fair grounds and began his exercise. By the steamer Columbia, which arrived here on Monday night, two more thoroughbreds arrived here from California in charge of A. J. Stemler, who formerly trained Jim Merritt for Scoggin & Powers of Billings. These last two arrivals are both four years old and sired by Wildidle. The stud colt is a chestnut called Jack Douglas, and is out of Lady Clare by Norfolk. The filly is a blood bay of fine size called [illegible] and is out of Abbie W by Don Victor. Both these horses will participate in all the leading races here this year and will be, in all probability, retained here for breeding purposes after their turf career is ended. By the way, it seems a pity that the celebrated horse, Foster, was never bred to a mare in Oregon. We notice that one of his colts, named Jim Brown, recently ran a mile and three-quarters in 3:05, which is better than [illegible] the table. He is owned by George Hearst, publisher of the Daily Examiner. And while speaking of races let us not forget that the English Derby is to be run at Epsom this morning. Among the starters will be Peter Lorillard's colts Iroquois and Barrett, and James R. Keene's colts Don Fulano and Foxhall. Iroquois was bred at Philadelphia and the other three in Kentucky.

A FITTING TRIBUTE. The members of the Ancient Order of United Workmen who joined in the procession on Decoration Day, after arriving at Lone Fir cemetery separated from the main body of the procession. They marched in a body to the grave of Wm. T. Evans, a late member of Industry Lodge No. 8, of this city, over which appropriate memorial ceremonies were held. Mr. D. Solis Cohen, master of Unity Lodge No. 25, read the beautiful charge appropriate to the occasion. Hon. J. F. Caples, of Industry Lodge No. 8, then paid a fitting tribute to the memory of the departed. At the conclusion of a prayer the members of the order deposited their floral offerings over all that remains mortal of their late associate and brother, Wm. T. Evans. The graves of Henry Maitland, of Monterey Lodge No. 23, of Monterey, Cal., and Hugh Macleay, of Magnolia Lodge No. 4, of San Francisco, were also beautifully decorated.

WILL REMAIN.—Dr. Dean Clarke, the well known liberal lecturer who was announced as a passenger on the outgoing steamer for San Francisco, has been induced to remain to give another series of religio scientific lectures at Liberty Hall, No. 186 First street. He will resume work next Sunday with an investigators' class meeting at 2 P. M., and will endeavor, in a lecture at 7:30 P. M., to show the fallacy of Darwinism and material hypothesis, as advanced by a recent lecture delivered by O. P. Mason.

INCORPORATED.—Messrs. G. F. Paxton, E. Shannon and C. P. Campbell filed articles of incorporation yesterday in the office of the county clerk. The name of the corporation is "The Grindstone Mining Co."; duration perpetual; object to engage in a general mining business for gold and silver in Oregon and Washington territory; principal office is located in Portland; capital stock, $2000; amount of each share $1.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Last Saturday afternoon, John B. Foster, first officer of the British ship Ellen Bank was found dead in his bed on the ship at Astoria. At the request of Capt. Parker, master of the vessel an inquest was held, and a verdict returned of death from hemorrhage caused by the rupture of a blood vessel. Mr. Foster was buried Sunday afternoon from Grace church, Rev. A. T. Perkins, officiating.

ARRESTS FOR MAY.—The police made 155 arrests during the month just closed, as follows: Drunk and disorderly and disorderly conduct 111, obstructing streets 1, insane 1, larceny 2, abusive language 2, assault and battery 21, defacing building 5, en route to penitentiary 4, indecent exposure 1, assault with dangerous weapon 1, fast driving 1, burglary 2, libel 1, horse-stealing 1.

PROSPECTS OF A FLOOD.—In the lull preceding the city election, and in the absence of any thrilling news concerning Conkling and Platt, the prospects for our customary June flood are now being discussed. It seems to be the general impression that there will be only a small rise. The Columbia was at a stand yesterday at all points except Celilo, where it rose three inches.

PROCEEDS OF PICNIC.—The Land League of this city have already collected $130 realized from the picnic held on the 22d inst., and when one or two committees yet to hear from have reported, will have $200 to send to their brethren in Ireland. At the regular meeting of the Land League held Sunday a resolution was passed denouncing the arrest of secretary Brennan.

MEETING OF COMMITTEE.—At 2 o'clock this afternoon there will be a meeting of the executive and finance committees appointed to make arrangements for the proper celebration of the coming Fourth. The meeting will be held at the council chamber. Every member of the committee is expected to be present.

AMATEUR MUSICAL SOCIETY.—This society has recently reorganized. Rehearsals are to be held on Wednesday evening of each week at the Handel and Hayden society hall, over Prentice's. All amateurs who consider themselves competent are cordially invited to join the society.

AT WORK AGAIN.—The grand jury of the state circuit court is in session, and that body and the district attorney are again busily engaged in prosecuting investigations. Yesterday a number of witnesses were examined in connection with cases under investigation.

PORK PACKING HOUSE.—Mr. Charles Logus will shortly erect a pork packing house on Fourth and L streets, East Portland, thus transferring his business from Oregon City. Mr. L. will build a handsome residence on F and Eighth street, Couch's addition, this summer.

REPRESENTATIVES.—The following members of the A. O. U. W. were elected as representatives to the Grand Lodge from this city: Industry Lodge No. 8, W. H. Creighton, G. C. Ehler, J. H. Misner. Multnomah No. 28, Joseph H. Shinn and Henry Pander.

CHANGE OF TIME.—The Young People's Association of the Baptist church have decided to have their moonlight excursion on the 10th of June instead of the 13th, as heretofore announced. Those interested in the affair will do well to note the change.

PROSPECTORS.—A party of Portland men have been prospecting in the Cascades in the vicinity of the head waters of the Molalla and Table Rock and have found indications favorable enough to locate a placer claim on a bar of Oglo creek.

NEW BOAT.—The new boat for Capt. Chas. Bureau to be run in the Lewis river trade is rapidly approaching completion on the east bank of the river opposite Greenwich dock. She will be ready for service about August 1st.

REAL ESTATE SALE.—Gilman & Co., sold at auction yesterday, 100x100 feet on the southeast corner of Clay and Twelfth streets, for $2975. A new two-story residence was included in the sale. Mr. Hogue was the purchaser.

SONS AND DAUGHTERS.—The twenty-two little boys in decoration day procession, and twenty-eight little girls in the liberty car, were sons and daughters of members of George Wright post, G. A. R.

THE COURTS.

U. S. DISTRICT COURT—DEADY, J.

TUESDAY, May 31, 1881.

United States vs John Kelly; information filed for disposing of liquor to Indians; defendant arraigned, plea of guilty entered; time waived and defendant sentenced to pay a fine of $10, or in default to be committed to the county jail.

United States vs Mackey; cause transferred to the United States Circuit Court for trial.

F. Clarno admitted to practice in this court.

Court adjourned until Wednesday, June 1st, at 10 A. M.

STATE CIRCUIT COURT—STOTT, J.

Alaska Gold and Silver Mining Co. vs Theo. Nicolai; time in which to answer enlarged until Thursday.

Nehoover vs Gundorph; judgment on the verdict.

Baldwin vs King; demurrer to the complaint argued and submitted.

Simon vs Morris; judgment on the verdict.

Sierra Lumber Co. vs J. Simon & Co.; default and judgment.

State of Oregon vs Pauline Manders; defendant arraigned and plea of guilty entered; sentenced to pay a fine of $100, or in default to be committed for 50 days in the county jail.

Hop Wa & Co. vs Young You; writ of review argued and submitted.

Ridelson vs Rines & Newhouse; motion for a new trial argued and submitted.

STILL ANOTHER DISPLAY.

Messrs. Seymour, Sabin & Co. of Stillwater, Minnesota, through their branch house in Portland, Oregon will make an extensive exhibit of Farm Machinery, including Threshers, straw, wood and coal burning Engines, Wagons, etc., at the coming State Fair. If the farmers of Oregon do not find variety enough in the agricultural implement line at the State Fair this year, they will certainly be a hard crowd to please.

AUCTION SALES.

A special auction sale of household furniture will be held today by Gilman & Co., at No. [illegible] Yamhill street. Sale will be held at 10 A. M.

THE NARROW GAUGE ROADS LEASED.

Monday evening the local officers of the Oregonian Railway Company limited, received a cablegram from the directors in Dundee, stating that the lines had been practically leased to Henry Villard. The cablegram also ordered work on the Portland division from the junction of east and west side divisions opposite Ray's landing, to this city to be suspended, and all available workmen transferred to the southern end of both lines. The officers here have no particulars of the lease, and do not know whether suspension of work on the Portland division will be permanent or not.

BRIEF NOTES.

The Calif. [illegible] will sail for the North [illegible] morning.

Work on C. H. Lewis' new dock has reached the second floor.

A new roof has been put on the old American Exchange hotel.

The graveling of I street in East Portland will be commenced next week.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

P. Van Fridagh makes a very important announcement in another column, to which we call the attention of our readers.

Special attention is called to the announcement that Simon Harris will sell his entire stock of elegant art goods by auction on Friday evening next. These goods have been selected with the greatest care in Europe by Mr. H., and no such opportunity has ever been offered before in this city. Do not fail to attend.

Sealed tenders will be received until the 1st of July for the erection of a Catholic church at East Portland. Plans and specifications can be had at Mr. Chas. A. Malarkey's store, corner of Second and Oak street. The lowest or any of the bids not necessarily accepted. Bonds will be required for the completion of the work.

NEW BOOKS.

The following new books have just been received and added to the Portland library:

The Encyclopædia Britannica; a dictionary of arts, sciences and general literature. Ninth edition, vol. 12.

Decorative Art in Japan, by George A. Audsley and J. L. Bowles.

The Golden State; a history of the region west of the Rocky Mountains, embracing California, Oregon, Nevada, Utah, Arizona, Idaho, Washington territory, British Columbia and Alaska, from the earliest period to the present time, giving a full account of the discovery of the country, early voyages of Spanish, English, Portuguese, French, Russian and American navigators, rule of Spain, Mexico and the United States; early Spanish missions; revolutions; conquest by Mexico and the United States; inauguration of American civilization; discovery of gold, mining, minerals, commerce, agriculture and the manufactures. Also, a full description of the mountains, scenery, valleys, forests, flowers, rivers, lakes, islands, deserts, waterfalls, bays, harbors, springs, geysers, climate, seasons, natives, birds, fishes, beasts, lands, navigation, roads, ditches, canals, population, customs, society, Chinese, courts, laws, education, schools, religion, churches, literature, emigrants, cities, counties, towns, professions, trades, amusements, etc., with a history of Mormonism and the Mormons; by R. Guy McClellan. Illustrated by numerous maps and engravings.

Vancouver Island and British Columbia in their history, resources and prospects; by Mathew Macfie, F. R. G. S.

The Northern Coasts of America and the Hudson Bay Territories; Patrick Fraser Tytler, esq., with continuation by R. M. Ballantyne.

Ten Years in Oregon; travels and adventures of Dr. E. White and lady, west of the Rocky mountains, with incidents of two sea voyages via Sandwich Islands, around Cape Horn, containing also a brief history of the missions and settlement of the country, origin of the provisional government, number and customs of the Indians, incidents witnessed while traversing and residing in the territory, description of the soil, production and climate of the country; compiled by Miss A. J. Allen.

MARION COUNTY CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.

SALEM, May 30, 1881.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

We met pursuant to call and organized the Marion County Christian Association, on Marion square, Salem, Oregon, May 25, 1881.

We herein enclose copy of constitution adopted in compliance with a resolution of the meeting, to send a copy to each paper in the state that would be likely to publish our proceedings.

After concluding the preliminary business we adjourned to meet July 4, 1881, in Marion square, Salem, where we hope to meet all persons opposed to secret societies in this state and organize a state association opposed to secret societies.

F. M. SALISBURY, Sec'y.

CONSTITUTION—PREAMBLE.

WHEREAS, Considering the unusual silence of the public press and pulpit in regard to the evils of secret societies, we, the undersigned, have adopted this constitution.

NAME.

Article 1. The name of this association shall be the Marion County Christian Association.

OBJECT.

Art. 2. The object of this association shall be to expose, withstand and [illegible] secret and anti-christian societies, to teach and [illegible] the truth which [illegible] Jesus Christ, with the Holy Bible as the word of God, and the New Testament as the [illegible] teachings of Jesus Christ; oppose to all secret evil and intemperate societies and [illegible] political, intellectual and political [illegible] and to bring about spiritual and social [illegible] among all upright Christian people, and for the christian freedom of speech and of the press in discussing all matters of right and opposing all wrong.

OFFICERS AND ELECTIONS.

Art. 3. The officers of this association shall be president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, editor, lecturer and chorister, all of whom shall be elected by ballot on the first Monday in July annually.

DUTIES OF OFFICERS.

Art. 4. The duties of officers shall be to carry out the objects of this constitution, and such duties as are usually required of the same officers in the most approved Christian meetings, and in accordance with parliamentary usages.

MEMBERSHIP.

Art. 5. Any person of good moral character may become a member of this association by signing this constitution, professing his faith in Jesus Christ, and renouncing all secret evil and intemperate societies, especially those he may have favored.

PEACE AND SUBSTITUTE.

Art. 6. This association shall at all times encourage peace and discourage war, and in case of a draft by the government, this association shall provide a substitute for any member drafted.

DISBURSEMENTS.

Art. 7. All moneys shall be payed out by direction of this association as shall be deemed best to carry out the object set forth in this constitution, for the glory of God and for the faith of Jesus Christ.

EXPULSIONS.

Art. 8. Any member who shall refuse to conform to this constitution, or shall be guilty of repeated disorderly conduct, shall be subject to expulsion by a vote of three-fourths of the members present, but no motion shall be acted upon for expulsion at the same meeting at which it is first offered.

AMENDMENTS.

Art. 9. All amendments to this constitution shall be made by a vote of three-fourths of the members present, but no motion shall be acted upon for amendment at the same meeting at which it is first read.

J. FRANKLIN, President,
JOHN HEPBURN, Vice Pres't,
F. M. SALISBURY, Secretary,
I. H. KEYES, Treasurer,
W. H. FRANKLIN, Chorister.

NEWS NOTES FROM SCIO.

CORRESPONDENCE OF THE OREGONIAN.

SCIO, May 30, 1881.

Crops are looking well.

Wool shearing will soon commence.

The late plenteous showers are doing a great deal of good seemingly.

New potatoes are putting in an appearance; cherries also, green peas ditto.

Mr. J. Williams, owner of the nearest sawmill has 150,000 feet of lumber sawed.

This town has a set of hooks and ladders and cart which to our knowledge has not been used for three years.

The narrow gauge railroad company will not agree to the terms of the citizens of Scio for a branch into town.

Mr. B. W. Hamilton opened out his stock of general merchandise some time ago, bringing the same from Jefferson.

A Chinaman had one leg cut in two and the other broken this afternoon on the railroad track west of town, by a construction train.

The people of Scio were willing to pay $10,000 to the narrow gauge for a branch, provided the D. R. Co., Limited, would allow the amounts paid on previous subscription, which the company refuse to do.

A Mr. Jones living near Stayton has five acres in strawberries. He sold them for 10c per gallon to those picking them. In a few days the patch was cleaned, over 60 persons going last Saturday. One family here brought in 47 gallons.

Comment on the Revision.

[From the Chicago Times.]

The old edition of the word of God was King James' bible. The revised and improved edition was to be Queen Victoria's. At least, so the committee of revision seem to fancy, for before issuing any copies for general circulation they first prepared a special copy, bound it elaborately, inscribed it humbly, and sent it to her majesty who, as a consequence of her royal position, is defender of the faith. How many revisions the sacred scriptures will stand and continue to be an absolute guide of faith and human conduct remains to be seen. Meantime, the revision is not hailed enthusiastically as an improvement. Queen Victoria doesn't get out as good a bible as did the king, who insisted that he reigned by divine favor.

Star-Route Storm.

NEW YORK, May 27.—The Telegram's Washington special says: There are mutterings to-day of the Star-route storm to burst soon. MacVeagh and James are working steadily and hope to issue all the warrants and have the arrests made early in June. They expect to prove a huge conspiracy and show to whom much of the stolen money was paid. Appeals and threats are going up to Garfield to stop the investigation.

Grand auction Sale of Elegant Pictures on Friday evening next at Simon Harris'.

PORTLAND, May 27, 1881.

The Bon Ton Tailoring Establishment, 77 Oak between First and Front streets, is open for inspection. Parties wishing to inspect their goods will please call, as the proprietors take delight in showing their goods. They have in a full line of imported and domestic suitings and pants goods, which will be offered to the public at the lowest figures ever offered before. SHIPPER & RYBKE.

Fourth of July, with its attendant fire works, grand parade, sports, etc., approacheth. Portland will be crowded with people from points for miles around who, like all good citizens, will call on Beck & Waldman, the clothiers, who are pushing things, that's certain.

Removal Notice.

W. S. James has removed to 121½ Front street, corner of Washington. Lessons in artistic penmanship and bookkeeping. Prices reasonable.

We are leaders—not followers—in our business. If you want a nice clean carriage or coupe, with a gentlemanly and competent driver, go or send to the City Stables. ACKER & LEIBY.

The weather for some time past has been the finest ever experienced in Oregon and everybody seems delighted, particularly Abell, the photographer, who has been doing a big business.

The whale recently caught in Baker's bay is 58 feet long, 30 feet in circumference around the belly, has two fins just back of the gills, two on back, and two legs about six feet from tail, about four feet long. The mouth is about four feet wide when open to its full capacity. There are four layers of skin over the gills, each neatly overlapping the other. This fish is found nearly near the South sea islands, and how this one should have found its way to these waters is a mystery and probably will remain unsolved. It lies on the beach below the oil works at Astoria, and has been visited by hundreds of people during the last few days.

Washington Territory.

S. M. Wait has sold a half interest in the Dayton flouring mills to S. H. Prather of Walla Walla. The price paid was $12,500.

The revenue cutter Wolcott has been lying at the head of the bay, near Port Townsend, during the past week, or more undergoing a thorough repainting and cleaning.

Hon. P. B. Cheney has donated some [illegible] to be expended in erecting an academy building at [illegible]. The town is named after the gentleman who makes this liberal donation.

A. S. Miller & Son have received the contract for building the bridge across the Spokane river at the [illegible] falls. The contractors agree to pay [illegible] each day after October 1st while the bridge remains uncompleted.

Capt. E. C. Quinn has taken out papers as master of the sealing schooner [illegible] since the untimely death of Capt. McGray. Capt. Quinn will [illegible] the sealing business with [illegible] the close of the season.

The Oregon Improvement Co. have taken the contract to supply the railroad from Walla Walla to [illegible] with timbers for bridges and trestles. This will require over [illegible] feet more material, which if possible, will be taken from the [illegible] mountains.

The Dayton depot building will require [illegible] over half of which is at the mills awaiting the completion of the bridge. This building will be of the same size and style as the new depot at Walla Walla, and will be furnished with a [illegible] which has long been held will be placed to accommodate the train.

A new town will soon be laid out at the junction on the [illegible] seven and a half miles below Walla Walla. It will be the half way station between Dayton and Walla Walla, and will contain [illegible] acres. A ditch two miles in length will supply the new town with an abundance of water for all purposes, and give sixteen feet head for driving machinery. Quite a thriving little village will spring up at this point.

The prospectus of the Morning Journal, a new daily paper to be issued early in June at Walla Walla, appears. Harris, Black & Reed are announced as publishers. Complete and reliable telegraphic news is promised and it seems from this that the people of Walla Walla are at last to have a daily worthy the name of a newspaper. Should the new paper adequate the enterprise will doubtless succeed.

The "Kingdom of heaven case," [illegible] Walla Walla, has reached final settlement. A. B. Coffey was allowed $[illegible] [illegible] attorney [illegible] and [illegible] W. Evans $[illegible] aggregating [illegible] with costs additional. In delivering the verdict, Judge Wingard said that any one in this enlightened age claiming to be God Almighty was a fraud [illegible] and should be made to refund all moneys extorted from his misguided believers.

Columbia Chronicle. The Dayton woolen mills are idle. This is a bad state of affairs. The mills have cost in the neighborhood of $40,000, and under proper management would prove a profitable investment. The goods manufactured at these mills, being of a superior quality, have always commanded a ready sale at fair figures. Jesse Day offers this splendid piece of property for $20,000. The water power, right in the heart of town, is alone worth the sum asked. Lack of capital has stood in the way of success in this undertaking from the first, and this lack now renders worse than useless, one of the finest pieces of property in the territory.

Idaho.

Mt. Idaho, the county seat of Idaho county, was first located in 1875, and contains a population of about 100 souls.

The examination of Stephens for the shooting of J. M. Hedrick was concluded before Justice Vincent, at Lewiston, on Thursday last, by the commitment of the prisoner for trial for manslaughter by the next grand jury. Bail fixed at $4000.

Messrs. Le Baron and Costello recently lost a raft with 1200 railroad ties and 15 cords of wood, aggregating $600 in value, through being ship wrecked on the Big Eddy of the Clearwater. Some of the navigators lost their clothing and all narrowly escaped.

PERUVIAN BITTERS

Stimulate the DIGESTIVE ORGANS, regulate the LIVER and cleanse the KIDNEYS. A wineglassful before each meal will make you believe this statement.

They CURE DYPSOMANIA (the Alcohol disease) by their charming action upon the STOMACH, restoring its natural tone and entirely destroying the MORBID APPETITE for stimulants. MALARIA disappears before them, and PERFECT HEALTH resumes its sway.

CHINCONA RUBRA (Peruvian Bark), together with other valuable ingredients, compounded with the best medical skill, is what this is.

THE NEW TESTAMENT.

[Concluded from First Page.]

drink it, in remembrance of me.	ye proclaim the Lord's death till he come.
26. For as often as ye eat this bread, and drink this cup, ye do shew the Lord's death till he come.	Wherefore whosoever shall eat the bread or drink the cup of the Lord unworthily, shall be guilty of the body and the blood of the Lord.
27. Wherefore whosoever shall eat this bread, and drink this cup of the Lord unworthily, shall be guilty of the body and blood of the Lord.	But let a man prove himself, and so let him eat of the bread, and drink of the cup.
28. But let a man examine himself, and so let him eat of that bread, and drink of that cup.	For he that eateth and drinketh, eateth and drinketh judgment unto himself, if he discern not the body.
29. For he that eateth and drinketh unworthily, eateth and drinketh damnation to himself, not discerning the Lord's body.	For this cause many among you are weak and sickly, and not a few sleep.
30. For this cause many are weak and sickly among you, and many sleep.	But if we discerned ourselves, we should not be judged.
31. For if we would judge ourselves, we should not be judged.	But when we are judged, we are chastened of the Lord, that we may not be condemned with the world.
32. But when we are judged, we are chastened of the Lord, that we should not be condemned with the world.	Wherefore, my brethren, when ye come together to eat, wait one for another.
33. Wherefore, my brethren, when ye come together to eat, tarry one for another.	If any man is hungry, let him eat at home; that your coming together be not unto judgment.
34. And if any man hunger, let him eat at home; that ye come not together unto condemnation. And the rest will I set in order when I come.	And the rest will I set in order whensoever I come.

CHARITY—LOVE.

THIRTEENTH CHAPTER I. CORINTHIANS. Authorized Version.	I. CORINTHIANS, XIII. Revised Version.
1. Though I speak with the tongues of men and of angels, and have not charity, I am become as sounding brass, or a tinkling cymbal.	If I speak with the tongues of men and of angels, but have not love, I am become sounding brass, or a clanging cymbal.
2. And though I have the gift of prophecy, and understand all mysteries, and all knowledge; and though I have all faith, so that I could remove mountains, and have not charity, I am nothing.	And if I have the gift of prophecy, and know all mysteries and all knowledge; and if I have all faith, so as to remove mountains, but have not love, I am nothing.
3. And though I bestow all my goods to feed the poor, and though I give my body to be burned, and have not charity, it profiteth me nothing.	And if I bestow all my goods to feed the poor, and if I give my body to be burned, but have not love, it profiteth me nothing.
4. Charity suffereth long, and is kind; charity envieth not; charity vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up.	Love suffereth long, and is kind; love envieth not; love vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up,
5. Doth not behave itself unseemly, seeketh not her own, is not easily provoked, thinketh no evil;	doth not behave itself unseemly, seeketh not its own, is not provoked, taketh not account of evil;
6. Rejoiceth not in iniquity, but rejoiceth in the truth;	rejoiceth not in unrighteousness, but rejoiceth with the truth;
7. Beareth all things, believeth all things, hopeth all things, endureth all things.	beareth all things, believeth all things, hopeth all things, endureth all things.
8. Charity never faileth: but whether there be prophecies, they shall fail; whether there be tongues, they shall cease; whether there be knowledge, it shall vanish away.	Love never faileth: but whether there be prophecies, they shall be done away; whether there be tongues, they shall cease; whether there be knowledge, it shall be done away.
9. For we know in part, and we prophecy in part.	For we know in part, and we prophesy in part;
10. But when that which is perfect is come, then that which is in part shall be done away.	but when that which is perfect is come, that which is in part shall be done away.
11. When I was a child, I spake as a child, I understood as a child, I thought as a child; but when I became a man, I put away childish things.	When I was a child, I spake as a child, I felt as a child, I thought as a child: now that I am become a man, I have put away childish things.
12. For now we see through a glass, darkly; but then face to face: now I know in part; but then shall I know even as also I am known.	For now we see in a mirror, darkly; but then face to face: now I know in part; but then shall I know even as also I have been known.
13. And now abideth faith, hope, charity, these three; but the greatest of these is charity.	But now abideth faith, hope, love, these three; and the greatest of these is love.

TEMPTATION—GALATIANS, IV.

14. And my temptation which was in my flesh ye despised not, nor rejected; but received me as an angel of God, even as Christ Jesus.	And that which was a temptation to you in my flesh ye despised not, nor rejected; but ye received me as an angel of God, even as Christ Jesus.
18. But it is good to be zealously affected always in a good thing, and not only when I am present with you.	But it is good to be zealously sought in a good matter at all times, and not only when I am present with you.

HONEST OR HONORABLE—PHILIPPIANS, IV.

8. Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things.	Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honorable, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things.

PRIZE OR REWARD—COLOSSIANS, VII.

8. Let no man beguile you of your reward in a voluntary humility and worshiping of angels, intruding into those things which he hath not seen, vainly puffed up by his fleshly mind.	Let no man rob you of your prize by a voluntary humility and worshipping of the angels, dwelling in the things which he hath seen, vainly puffed up by his fleshly mind, and not holding fast the Head, from whom all the body, being supplied and knit together through the joints and bands, increaseth with the increase of God.

MYSTERY OF INIQUITY—II THESSALONIANS, II.

7. For the mystery of iniquity doth already work, only he who now letteth will let, until he be taken out of the way.	For the mystery of lawlessness doth already work; only there is one that restraineth now, until he be taken out of the way.

THE ROOT OF EVIL—I TIMOTHY, VI.

10. For the love of money is the root of all evil, which while some coveted after, they have erred from the faith, and pierced themselves through with many sorrows.	For the love of money is the root of all kinds of evil: which some reaching after have been led astray from the faith, and have pierced themselves through with many sorrows.

THE WORD—HEBREWS, IV.

12. For the word of God is quick, and powerful, and sharper than any two-edged sword, piercing even to the dividing asunder of soul and spirit, and of the joints and marrow, and is a discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart.	For the word of God is living, and active, and sharper than any two-edged sword, and piercing even to the dividing of soul and spirit, of both joints and marrow, and quick to discern the thoughts and intents of the heart.

ESCHEW EVIL—I PETER, III.

11. Let him eschew evil, and do good; let him seek peace, and ensue it.	And let him turn away from evil, and do good; let him seek peace, and pursue it.
15. But sanctify the Lord God in your hearts, and be ready always to give an answer to every man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you, with meekness and fear.	But sanctify in your hearts Christ as Lord; being ready always to give answer to every man that asketh you a reason concerning the hope that is in you, yet with meekness and fear:
21. The like figure whereunto even baptism doth also now save us, (not the putting away of the filth of the flesh, but the answer of a good conscience toward God) by the resurrection of Jesus Christ.	Which also after a true likeness doth now save you, even baptism, not the putting away of the filth of the flesh, but the interrogation of a good conscience toward God, through the resurrection of Jesus Christ.

THE BEAST—REVELATIONS, XVII.

8. The beast that thou sawest was, and is not; and shall ascend out of the bottomless pit, and go into perdition; and they that dwell on the earth shall wonder, whose names were not written in the book of life from the foundation of the world, when they beheld the beast that was, and is not, and yet is.	The beast that thou sawest was, and is not; and is about to come up out of the abyss, and to go into perdition. And they that dwell on the earth shall wonder, they whose name hath not been written in the book of life from the foundation of the world, when they behold the beast, how that he was, and is not, and shall come.
9. And here is the mind which hath wisdom. The seven heads are seven mountains, on which the woman sitteth.	Here is the mind which hath wisdom. The seven heads are seven mountains, on which the woman sitteth:
10. And there are seven kings, five are fallen, and one is, and the other is not yet come, and when he cometh, he must continue a short space.	and they are seven kings; the five are fallen, the one is, the other is not yet come; and when he cometh, he must continue a little while.
11. And the beast that was, and is not, even he is the eighth, and is of the seven, and goeth into perdition.	And the beast that was, and is not, is himself also an eighth, and is of the seven; and he goeth into perdition.
12. And the ten horns which thou sawest are ten kings, which have received no kingdom as yet; but receive power as kings one hour with the beast.	And the ten horns that thou sawest are ten kings, which have received no kingdom as yet; but they receive authority as kings, with the beast, for one hour.
13. These have one mind, and shall give their power and strength unto the beast.	These have one mind, and they give their power and authority unto the beast.
14. These shall make war with the Lamb, and the Lamb shall overcome them: for he is Lord of lords, and King of kings: and they that are with him are called, and chosen, and faithful.	These shall war against the Lamb, and the Lamb shall overcome them, for he is Lord of lords, and King of kings; and they [illegible] that are with him, called and chosen and faithful.

ALPHA AND OMEGA—REVELATIONS, XXII.

11. He that is unjust, let him be unjust still; and he which is filthy, let him be filthy still; and he that is righteous, let him be righteous still; and he that is holy, let him be holy still.	He that is unrighteous, let him do unrighteousness still; and he that is filthy, let him be made filthy still; and he that is righteous, let him do righteousness still; and he that is holy, let him be made holy still.
12. And behold, I come quickly; and my reward is with me, to give every man according as his work shall be.	Behold, I come quickly; and my reward is with me, to render to each man according as his work is.
13. I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end, the first and the last.	I am the Alpha and the Omega, the first and the last, the beginning and the end.
14. Blessed are they that do his commandments, that they may have right to the tree of life, and may enter in through the gates into the city.	Blessed are they that wash their robes, that they may have the right to come to the tree of life, and may enter in by the gates into the city.
15. For without are dogs, and sorcerers, and whoremongers, and murderers, and idolaters, and whosoever loveth and maketh a lie.	Without are the dogs, and the sorcerers, and the fornicators, and the murderers, and the idolaters, and every one that loveth and maketh a lie.
16. I, Jesus, have sent mine angel to testify unto you these things in the churches. I am the root and the offspring of David, and the bright and morning star.	I Jesus have sent mine angel to testify unto you these things for the churches. I am the root and the offspring of David, the bright, the morning star.
17. And the Spirit and the bride say, Come. And let him that heareth say, Come. And let him that is athirst come. And whosoever will, let him take the water of life freely.	And the Spirit and the bride say, Come. And he that heareth, let him say, Come. And he that is athirst, let him come: he that will, let him take the water of life freely.
18. For I testify unto every man that heareth the words of the prophecy of this book, If any man shall add unto these things, God shall add unto him the plagues that are written in this book:	I testify unto every man that heareth the words of the prophecy of this book, If any man shall add unto them, God shall add unto him the plagues which are written in this book:
19. And if any man shall take away from the words of the book of this prophecy, God shall take away his part out of the book of life, and out of the holy city, and from the things which are written in this book.	and if any man shall take away from the words of the book of this prophecy, God shall take away his part from the tree of life, and out of the holy city, which are written in this book.
20. He which testifieth these things saith, Surely I come quickly; Amen. Even so, come, Lord Jesus.	He which testifieth these things saith, Yea, I come quickly. Amen: come, Lord Jesus.

OUR EXPORTS.

It is certainly gratifying to all true Americans to know that of late years our exports have largely exceeded our imports, not alone in such staple articles as wheat and beef, but in almost every branch of industry. Ten years ago nearly all the perfumery and toilet articles used in this country were imported from Europe; to-day we not only manufacture for ourselves, but are large exporters to South America, China, Japan and the Colonies. The immense growth of this particular industry on the Pacific Coast is simply astonishing. Steele, who is now one of the largest cologne makers in the world, last year exported some 2,000,000 bottles of his famous Yosemite Cologne. For sale by Woodard, Clarke & Co., Portland, Oregon.

King of the Blood.

Is not a "cure all," it is a blood-purifier and tonic. Impurity of blood poisons the system, deranges the circulation, and thus induces many disorders, known by different names to distinguish them according to effects, but being really branches or phases of that great generic disorder, Impurity of Blood. Such are Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Constipation, Nervous Disorders, Headache, Backache, General Weakness, Heart Disease, Dropsy, Kidney Disease, Piles, Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Skin Disorders, Pimples, Ulcers, Swellings, &c., &c. King of the Blood prevents and cures these by attacking the cause, Impurity of the Blood. Chemists and physicians agree in calling it "the most genuine and efficient preparation for the purpose." Sold by Druggists, $1 per bottle. See testimonials, directions, &c., in pamphlet, "Treatise on Diseases of the Blood," wrapped around each bottle.

THE GENUINE

CELEBRATED

FOR THE CURE OF

Hepatitis, or Liver Complaint,

DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE.

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the liver to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER.

DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, in cases of AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them a FAIR TRIAL.

For all bilious derangements, and as a simple purgative, they are unequaled.
